Clique & Clicks ▶ Get Spotted

WOMEN IN CIVIC SPACES

by Harriet James

Her Impact - Professional Women Transforming Civic Spaces recently brought together women in Nairobi to be empowered on how they could actively participate in civic spaces. Citizen Advancement Initiative (the conveners) executive director Benard Meda quipped women in the grassroots were more keen in participating in political matters than their professional counterparts and urged professional women to be more active in oversight, advocacy and accountability.

PD/HARRIET JAMES

Engineer Diana Macodawa of Institution of Engineers of Kenya.

Dr Caroline Mwaura of Kenya Medical Practitioners Pharmacists Dentists Union with Institute of Certified Public Accountants of Kenya council member Olive Gitau.

Nairobi county coordinator for the national steering committee Eunice Oyule.

Irene Otto, an advocate of the High Court and a council member of the Law Society of Kenya.

Veteran journalist Toepista Nabusoba with Association of Media Women in Kenya executive director Queenter Mbori.

Citizens Advancement Initiative executive director Benard Meda.

Of impactful conversations

by Harriet James

Fashion enthusiasts and celebrity stylists recently gathered in Nairobi for a sustainable fashion soiree with renowned US-based celebrity stylist Fiskani Kaira. The group discussions and live consultation with the stylist was for cultural exchange, partnership building, business networking and impactful conversation on sustainable fashion that will benefit the global fashion industry. "We are building circular eco-systems for fashion in Kenya and Nigeria, by diverting used textiles and footwear from the landfills. We support the environment and create jobs," said Naina Nathalie Botango of Africa Collect Textile.

PD/HARRIET JAMES

Slow fashion educator Janet Chemitei with celebrity fashion stylist Fiskani Kaira.

Quinetha Frasier of Geechie Adventures.

Lady Mandy, Olive Gachara, Fiskani Kaira and Brian Babu.

Africa Collect Textile's Naina Nathalie Botango. of.

Regenerative Fashion Collaborative Exchange member Lisa Kibutu, Suzie Beauty founder and chief creative Suzie Wokabi and singer Habida Moloney.